Fund manager commentary

In July, the Mainberg Special Situations Fund (I Share Class) recorded a positive performance of +0.95%. The annualized volatility for the month was 2.81%. Over a twelve-month period, the fund delivered a total return of +7.45% with a volatility of 3.41%.

Portfolio Component: Merger Arbitrage

At month-end, the merger arbitrage segment accounted for 28% of the portfolio. This segment currently comprises eleven equities from six European countries, each at a different stage in their respective takeover processes. For the first time, we also added a U.S.-based situation to the portfolio. Larger positions are currently held in Covestro (Germany), Just Eat Takeaway (Netherlands), and B&S Group (Luxembourg). Foreign currency risks outside the euro area are fully hedged.

Portfolio Component: Domination Agreements

With a current weighting of 41%, the domination agreements segment remains the largest component of the fund. Over the course of the second quarter, the weighting was slightly reduced from around 50%, following a moderate increase in premiums relative to the respective downside protection levels.

This segment continues to serve as a stable source of returns with limited downside risk - even though premiums at price floors (e.g., via put rights to major shareholders) have recently risen slightly.

Fund portrait

The aim is to achieve an absolute increase in value with the lowest possible volatility. The Mainberg Special Situations Fund is an equity fund and invests in special situations with an attractive risk/reward profile. The majority of the assets are to be invested in equities that are admitted to or included in official trading on a stock exchange or another organized market. The focus is on events and special situations such as M&A situations in Europe, particularly in German-speaking countries.

The fund exploits price inefficiencies in structurally less noticed situations, regardless of the company's market capitalization and sector. Through disciplined investing, risk-appropriate value growth is sought by exploiting strong downside protection, e.g. through an existing cash compensation offer. The respective upside opportunity is identified and assessed through fundamental analysis. The fund aims to achieve a return that is independent of the performance of the stock markets while at the same time reducing risk, and is therefore not index-oriented.

Performance in 12-months-periods

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. All performance assumes a reinvestment of the distributions and an investment amount of 100,000 EUR and comprises twelve months each. The values marked with an * refer to a shorter period of time (since launch). Net performance: In addition to all costs incurred in the fund, the respective issue charge is also taken into account. This is deducted from the investment amount at the beginning of the performance period presented. The redemption charge, if such a discount is levied, will be deducted when the fund units are returned. Any custody fee that may be incurred that reduces performance is not taken into account. Gross performance: Corresponds to the net value development, but does not take into account an issue charge.

This is a marketing communication. Please read the sales prospectus (in German) and the key information document (in German) before making a final investment decision. The net asset value of investment funds is subject to fluctuations to differing degrees, and is no guarantee that the investment objectives will be achieved. There is the risk that the investor will suffer a financial loss as a result of the investment acquired.

By acquiring the investment acquired, the investor merely acquires units in a fund and not the underlying assets of the fund, e.g. a building or shares in a company.

Performance is calculated using the BVI method (in German). Information on the precise method of performance calculation can be found in German on the Internet under Description of methods of calculation.

Future performance is subject to taxation. This is dependent on the personal situation of the respective investor and can change in future.

Total fund assets refer to the fund assets of all unit classes belonging to the fund. Total fund assets are shown in the currency of the unit class that was issued first.

The ongoing costs shown (total cost ratio) were incurred in the last financial year of the fund; for new funds, this is an estimate for the first financial year. The costs incurred can fluctuate from year to year and reduce the investor's earnings prospects. Further information on costs and any performance-based remuneration and its composition can be found in the key investor information.

When investing in the fund Mainberg Special Situations Fund HI I, a performance fee is charged to the investor if the increase in value of the fund exceeds the specified money market investment as a benchmark. The performance fee is calculated as follows and reduces the positive performance of the investor. 15 % of the amount by which the share value development at the end of a settlement period exceeds the income from a money market investment used as a benchmark in that settlement period, but in total up to a maximum of 10 % of the average value in the settlement period. A negative performance must be made up.

Any percentages indicated in the investment structures or asset breakdowns shown generally relate to the total fund assets. Only a subset of the asset types is used as a basis in each case for the presentation of individual structures (e.g. for industries, only the share of equities), with the result that a total of 100% is not necessarily achieved.

The top securities (if indicated) are presented for a maximum of 60% of fund assets.

The figures shown are rounded, hence the totalled values can deviate from 100%.

The cut-off time refers to the daily close of order acceptance by the fund's depository bank. This is typically earlier for the investor's custodian office.
